DEDICATION

By tradition, the senior class dedicates their year-book to an outstanding member of the Curry community. The class of 1976 has so honored Mrs. Barbara F. Pettingill.

"Ma Pett" has been the Assistant to the Dean of Student Life for three years. Since coming to Curry seven years ago, Mrs. Pettingill was the force behind making Scholars B Hall co-ed, thus giving Curry its first co-ed residence. She has always been a familiar face on campus and a great inspiration in the progress of the College. For this we extend to her many thanks.

The class of 1976 wishes "Ma Pett" the best of luck in the future and we hope she will always remember us, as we will never forget her.

Through Fire
In Memory of Pamela Wrinch

Where dunes resist the green eroding tides,
Bayberries grey in winter, and winds whip grass
Into submissiveness. Northeasters twist
The pines, and only rock's immutable.
This is a fitting place for Kore, wintering,
To stand in brief return within Demeter's
Home, to trace the rhythm of voluted shells,
The spiralling of time upon itself.
Well might Demeter see with joy that daughter's
Generosity and strength, her quick perceivance,
Gentleness, as if she brought from deeper
Halls some knowledge never pawned for power.
But short was that reunion; without flowers,
That final summering, as they, unknowing,
Walked along the ocean shore to Eleusinian mysteries.
Mute evergreens there stood aghast to watch
The all-transforming flames reach toward the stars.

We at these rites stand in the outer court
And by the flaming toches, final flowers,
We now renounce, before the Maker of the wind
And rock, our first audacity--when we (Like Pluto and Demeter) presumed to call
Her "ours"--and then the last audacity--
When we presumed to know the seasons of the gods.

And how, as then, at dawn the finite fire
Pales in the great infinity of light,
Eternally renewed.

(In Greek mythology Kore is the daughter of the earth-goddess Demeter. While they are together, earth flowers and is fruitful; but Pluto, god of the underworld, abducts Kore. During her stay underground, the earth is winter-bound and barren; but Kore is allowed brief visits above ground, and these times of the reunions of Demeter and Kore are the fruitful, flowering seasons. The Greeks celebrated the mysteries of Demeter and Kore at Eleusis. There, after the participants had walked along the coast from Athens to Eleusis, the celebrations of the first night of the mysteries took place by torchlight outside the temple itself.)

A Song of Greatness

When I hear the old men
Telling of heroes,
Telling of great deeds
Of ancient days,
When I hear that telling
Then I think within me
I too am one of these
When I hear the people
Praising great ones,
Then I know that I too
Shall be esteemed;
I too when my time comes
Shall do mightily,

Curry is fortunate to have several cultural affluences: Iran, Nigeria, Thailand, Taiwan, Barbadoes . . . Each year they sponsor a most interesting International Costume Banquet; featuring custom, costume, and cuisine. Their involvement with the Curry Community is truly a beneficial experience.

COFFE-HOUSE

"The Loose Caboose" with its' rowdy crowds and blissful beverages, was sobered by the efforts of the Coffe-House crew . Various plants, wall wall hangings, soft lights, and mellow music led way for a tranquil and enjoyable evening, @ twice a month. The home-baked "eats" and variety of refreshments were an added pleasure.
Thank you all!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Marcia,

CHEER-LEADERS

Above the noise of the fans they chant their cheers. RAH!!! RAH!!! RAH!!!

Season after season, game after game, sport after sport.

The cheerleaders went through a transition this year, of non-recognition and involvement. However, we hope to see them bounce back with all their spirit, to cheer us on to prospective victories!!!

LOOSE CABOOSE

A new member to our college community exist above "the loose caboose." It is a multi-purpose room; housed there are: two ping-pong tables, one pin-ball machine, one pool table, checker and backgammon boards, and a good time. Although it lacks a name, and is still in its' growing stages, the possibilities are numerous. GOOD LUCK!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Curry's easy access to Boston expands our facilities many times over. In four years here we have all been in to the city for many special events. And some of the benefits of Boston have made their way out to Curry.

The next few pages are pictures compiled over the past four year period. For the most part they are of concerts in the Orpheum, Music Hall and Boston Garden. The others are celebrities that have visited the radio station.

When I first came to Curry I would have thought anyone was crazy if they said I would be the editor of the yearbook. But I also did not know that when I was a freshman that the editor would walk up to me, hand me a camera and tell me to take pictures. So I learned. For the next two years I was the photography editor of the book, but still this was a far cry from being Editor-in-Chief. Finally, last year I was asked to take the job and must have refused ten times. But here I am today writing the Editor's message.

I do not regret taking the job one bit. Sure, there were rough times but there was always someone to help out.

We had some problems with our publisher and as a result had to switch. I was pretty confused while all this was going on and have to thank Warren Bazirgan, our faculty advisor for his help in straightening out these business problems.

Last year when Editor Pat Sheridan was telling me about a staff, she said that Ruth Burack would be there to help out with things that no one else wanted to do. She was right. Ruth took care of distributing the books and mailing them out which is nothing but a big pain, and not in the neck. She did some typing, ran errands, and came through with a few pleasant surprises like finding pictures that were desperately needed. Ruth will be the Editor next year and she is already as well organized as I was going into my last month.

Nancee Chalifour and Mary Carneiro were possibly my biggest helpers. Not only did they do their sections of the book, but they typed and typed more and helped in any other way they could.

Jo-Anne Roderiques was our most experienced yearbooker and we all were helped by some of her ideas. She was responsible for the Student Life section which is the largest section of the book.

Steve Mechlinski was the Photography Editor, making sure that any event was covered by himself or someone else. Also of great assistance as far as photography is concerned was Charlie Flagg of Miller Studio. He did all our printing and processing as well as covering most of the important events.

Finally, I would like to thank Chris Sheehan who as Business Manager helped raise over $1,000.00. And Bob Murphy from Americ an Publishers, who came and picked up the pieces of our publishing problems.

I would like to explain a few things about this year's book. Everyone wants their book to be a little different so I decided to turn the book sideways and put the binding on the short side. This can make for different layout ideas and I hope that we have done a good job with it.

One thing that I do not like to see in a yearbook is a page loaded with pictures. So we kept the layout fairly light, at least with the candid's. I feel pretty much the same about copy. Many times yearbooks can be very corny if they are filled with copy, because you run out of things to say and how to say them. So we tried to keep it to a minimum.

I hope you enjoy the book; I do. And take it for what it is, a book of pictures to be felt and remembered.
